

You know where, we know how

An amazing project has been executed

After having shipped 7,582 frts incl. break-bulk, 70 x 40' SOC's as well as 7 heavy lifts of 128 tons ex Europe to the Peruvian Jungle by beach landing operation, Conceptum Logistics returned to Iquitos to operate, coordinate and supervise the placement of the transformers, engines and alternators onto the foundations.

Already familiar with all local circumstances, the project continued being challenging, however this final part was also managed successfully by Conceptum and its partners.

This time one of the main issues was to overcome the limited space the units had to be moved, turned, lowered to ground and shifted within.

Despite climatic changes, varying between unbearably hot to tropical rains and an unconventional jobsite in all aspects, Conceptum Logistics completed the job to full satisfaction of everyone involved and within the given time frame.

To see the complete video of this project including the final project phase click here.

